"Restoring" Paris. From the New York Times.

From the New York Times.

"Evil be thou my good" seems to be literally the ruling principle with many of the leading spirits of Paris. When the doors of the theatres were flung open after the peace, and original work began to be talked of, it might have been supposed, and was certainly hoped, that minfortune would have had a chastening and purifying effect, which would be reflecied even from the stage. As a matter of fact, the from the stage. As a matter of fact, the very first new play brought out-Marcel very first new play brought out—Marcel-lline, st the Gymnase—was one of the grossest plots ever conceived even in Paris, and a forthcoming drams of which we have heard is said in this respect to be no better. In spite of these and other simi-lar indications, the Parisian journalists have made a notable discovery, which is that their city is not vicious enough to be prosperous. The place has got to be a bore, they say, and there is not helf as much foreign gold spent there as in the good old wicked times of the Empire. This is a terrible argument in behalf of Nanoupon an ides. The problem is how to get back the rich strangers that once adorned Paris, at who now shun it like a pestilence, who loved the gilding and purple of it is the back of the Republic; who lund it at the odors of Lubin, but shudder at that of petrolenm; who liked to roll over the velvet asphaltum of the boulcwards, but do not care to jolt over the plebian cobble-stones that replace it. How are these Sybarites to be restored to their allegiance, these Robrisms to be joined are these Sybarites to be restored to their allegismes, these Ephraims to be joined again to their ideas? Clearly, reasons the sortupulous and assacions Figure, by making things attractive to them. Let pleasure be sufficiently seductive, and the weariest and most jaded must encount. The project, then, is to turn Paris into a kind of Baden-Baden. The Palaise d' Industrio will make, it is pointed out, a superb karasaal, and bear about the same relation to it that the Crystal Palace does to a glass coach. In this charming situation, in an edifice "decorated with the manes of the most illustrious of earth's worthies, and once the centre of the choicest works of man," the spectacle of what in this country would be styled a "champion gambling hell," would be, it is thought, appropriate and inspiring. To clutch the sceptre of chance as it falls from the hands of Homburg and Baden. Baden. Same a very high prices.

A prize package man in Indianapolis see the orowed by shouting at the top of the directing and dominating leaders in the North. The people, who have been deuced for ten years by peculo-states of the word as a myth. The commets of the North. The people, who have been deuced for ten years by peculo-states of the word that the Crystal Palace does the orowed by shouting at the top of the directing and dominating leaders in the North. The people, who have been deuced for ten years by peculo-states of the word man, who are now anxious to forswear their old principles, e.e. their inaincerity and cowardice, and refuse to follow their standards longer. Every augury is favorable to make their hair grow a foot in length that we give tc-day, from New Jersey.

The Hagne, the political capital of Hollow their moments of the wealthiest town for its population in the world. At least the second in the world to the same who are now anxious to forswear their norm who are now anxious to forswear their old principles, e.e. their inaincerity and cowardice, and refuse to follow their standards longer. Every augury is favorable to a of revenue to the German treasury. Why not, then, grasp the golden prize, and forget Sedan and Gravelotte, in the enjoyment of those streams of wealth that may thus be diverted from the hated victors? That the idea is seriously discussed may be deduced from the fact that an American has made the characteristic proposition to lease the Palais d'Industrie for the proposition of the characteristic proposition o purpose described, and to pay three millions of francs per annum for it. He is likely, no doubt, to have competitors in MM. Dupressior and Biano, the prospectively ousted lords of the green cloth of Badan and Hamburg, but whoever tripps, Paris will be, it is anticipated, the runy deplore. If this beautiful concep-tion is carried out—and it really is seri-ously threatened—it will be a fine practi-cal illustration of the old truth that be-neath what seems to be the lowest depths moral degeneracy of the French character. Paris has suffered bitter misfortunes, un-Asingular evidence of Oregon's anti-dergone grevious mortifications, and for these she challenges and receives the sym-pathy of civilized mankind. But should this infermons design be consummated, we his infermous design be consummated, we apprehend that few decent people any-where would regret it if the last and and Paris be blotted from the earth even as were the "Cities of the Plain."

Ot the ceiling of the Incoronate at Na-ples, Giotto has represented a marriage

t but slightly. Mozart composed various contra-dances, one through the influence of a flue gentlemen from Prague, who asked bim to dinner an hour in advance, and by this lively tour de force obtained from the master the desired music. In simplicity of melody and harmony these early contra-dances are richer than the round dances, and have a somewhat aristocratic appearance. Beethoven wrote several of them, and, in adding a catalogue of his works to the Sonts Op. 106, considered them worth mentioning. The appendix gives six, some of them monoton-

The indications afforded by the election in Kentunky, North Carolins, Wyonning Montans, California and Maine, that the Democratic party is rapidly dissolving, passing out of existence, are confirmed by the dispatches given this morning from Pennsylvania, Chio, and Lowa. Every desperate expedient promising to restore its shattered ranks has been recorted to in its shattered ranks has been rescried to in vain. The mistakes of the Republican party have been magnified to the people out of all proportion to its good works; the weaknessee of some of its leading men have been industriously paraded as the substantial elements of their characters; the democracy itself has made a futile and half-bearted effort to change its base, around its its dishopped downer and easier prosperous. The place has got to be a bore, they say, and there is not helf as much foreign gold spant there as in the description of the Empire. This is a terrible argument in behalf of Napoleon, and the nice question arises with the Republican journals whether it may not be possible to be prosperously naughty under Democratic institutions, or in other words, if vice and liberty cannot be made compatible.

Under these delicate circumstances, the excellent and patriotic Figaro has hit upon an idea. A WAGON RUN DOWN BY THE NIGHT EXPRESS TRAIN FROM CORRY-MIRACU-LOUS ESCAPE OF THE OCCUPANTS .-About seven o'clock last Saturday evening a lady and gentleman were riding behind a double team near Centraville. Upon approaching the Oil Creek railroad cross-AMBRICAN ing the horses became unmanageable and dashed up the track towards the express train, which was rapidly approaching. The engineer seeing them crossing instantly turned on the brakes, but not in mangled that it had to be shot. The wagon was converted into aplinters, but fortunately the lady and gentleman were thrown on the cow catcher and escaped with only a few slight bruises

> Since writing the above we learn that the names of the parties were Mr. and Mrs Parker, an aged couple who were on their way to Centreville to visit some relatives from about fifty miles distant. Mr. Parker turned down the track at Coats' rossing, and when he heard the train approaching there was no means of getting out of the way. The locomotive struck the hind part of the wagon, and the engineer, Mr. P. ley, a man of thirty or thirty-five years, residing east of Crossingville, this county, in the employ of Mr. C. A. Derrickson, of Meadville, died in this place on Friday night, from the effects of a kick by a horse on Thursday. The deceased had driven Mr. Derrickson's team from Meadville and having put them in the stable, went to an adjoining barn to see a horse owned by his brother. The horse, always considered as a gentle animal, was busy eating, and as the deceased stood looking at him, he raised his head suddenly and instantly kicked with both feet, striking Mr. Crow-ley in the bowels, who died thirty-six hours after in great suffering.

urday, the 30th, E.S. Stuntz, aged twenty-two years, son of Mr. E. W. Stuntz, of Albion, ten miles north of this place, met with an accident which terminated fatally nine days after. Mr. S., in company with one or two others was engaged in hauling logs some five miles from home. A log was being rolled upon the tracks with a team, the deceased standing at the end of the skid, in close proximity to another log lying on the ground. When the log was nearly in position the chain broke, letting it roll back with torrible force, catching his left leg between the rolling log and the end of the one on the ground in such a manner as to throw him eight or ten feet in the air. When found, his left leg from between his knee and thigh lay doubled under his back, having been broken abort off, the bones protruding through his flesh. He was removed to the home of his parents, where he died the following Sat-

Un'terstanding that Mrs. U. B. Evens, of this city, is about to take up her professional residence in Auburn for a time, I take great pleasure in stating that I have known Mrs. Evans for tome years as a Daugerrectypist and Photographer who ranks among the first in the world for artistic tests and skill. I sincerely hope that she may be as successful at her new residence as abe has been in this city.
